

Ways to Celebrate

JOIN US IN RAISING AWARENESS, TOGETHER!

1.) SHARE YOUR TESTIMONY

Bring up learning disabilities and dyslexia with your employees, co-workers, family and friends. Share with them how Pace has made an impact on your family's life and the success your child has had at Pace. This is a great way to reach others and possibly even help better understand the struggles families, like yours, have faced and introduce them to Pace Brantley.

2.) WEAR RED FOR DYSLEXIA

Deck out yourself, invite your work colleagues, friends and extended family to wear red for a day in October. Pace is going red on October 7th.

Take a group photo of you and your colleagues, family and friends wearing red to support dyslexia. Use the hashtag #GoRedForDyslexia and post your photos on social media. <https://www.succeedwithdyslexia.com/go-red/>

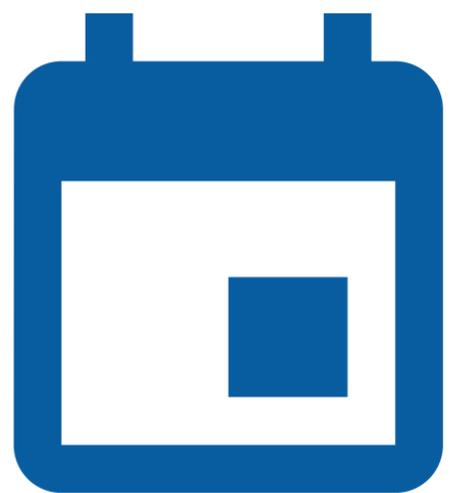

3.) ADVOCATE FOR UNDERSTANDING LEARNING DISABILITIES

Invite someone from our school to share with your workplace about learning disabilities and how they effect our community. We would be honored to share with your employer/employees what we are doing to allow students to succeed and more about our programs.

4.) INVITE

Invite your friends on social media platforms like Facebook and Instagram to "Like" Pace Brantley. This will allow them to see the ongoing good work that is being done to support our 1's. The 1 in 5 students that struggle with learning disabilities; the 1's that make up all of our student population at Pace.

5.) JOIN US FOR OUR OCTOBER COFFEE CHAT

Pace Parents are invited to join us for our October Coffee Chat on Wednesday, October 14th. Ms. Laub and Mrs. Seiler will share how to prioritize interventions services to best support your child, and our student services support programs.
